INTRODUCTION

The Axia Group Code of Conduct expresses our commitments to ethics, integrity, and responsibility in all our actions and relationships. It guides the behavior of all employees, partners, shareholders, suppliers, and other stakeholders, reinforcing the values that support our operations.

1. Corporate Integrity & Work Environment

1.1. Health and Safety

Axia Group promotes a safe and healthy work environment by adopting practices that prevent accidents and protect the physical and mental integrity of employees. We comply with all regulatory standards and encourage a culture of prevention.

In the work environment, we enforce code of conduct standards (prohibiting drunkenness, drug use, and altercations). The use of illegal drugs compromises professional performance, constitutes a crime, damages the user's health, compromises the workplace, and poses risks to others.

Any unsafe conditions or inappropriate behaviors in the workplace must be reported to leadership. To ensure the necessary responses to any risks or incidents, the available reporting form must be used.

1.2. Conflict of Interest

It is the responsibility of all employees to avoid situations where personal interests may interfere with professional decisions. All personal interests must align with the interests of Axia Group and vice versa.

Any situation that constitutes or may constitute a conflict of interest must be immediately communicated to leadership or the ethics committee.

1.3. Hiring of Relatives

The hiring of family members and relatives is permitted, provided that meritocracy criteria are respected and there is no direct relationship of subordination or influence in decisions regarding hiring, promotion, or performance evaluation. Hiring will be analyzed by the company's board of directors, ensuring that no direct family relationship generates negative influences.

These fair hiring principles will apply to all professional aspects, including compensation, promotions, and transfers. Children of Axia Group employees may have priority for internship or short-term (summer/temporary) positions, provided they are equally qualified compared to other candidates.

1.4. Confidential Information

The relations of Axia Group with its service providers and employees are based on the principle of trust. Confidential information consists of any and all information that is not public knowledge.

This includes: trade secrets, patents, business plans, marketing and service plans, consumer research, manufacturing process ideas, design, accounting data, tokens and passwords, customer identities, databases, records, salary information, and any financial or banking data.

A 'non-compete' clause is also added for the entire duration of the service contract and for up to 2 (two) years after its termination.

2. Corporate Relations and Advisory Board

We value transparency, equity, responsibility, empathy, and convergence of interests. Deliberations are always formalized in writing and in compliance with majority decisions in assemblies or corporate meetings.

Any discrepancy will be resolved in accordance with the best interests of Axia Group. These principles ensure integral corporate governance and management, free from illegal practices.

3. Relations with Customers and Suppliers

Our relationship with suppliers and business partners is guided by good faith, honesty, ethics, transparency, and respect, aiming to contribute positively to the social and economic development of the regions where we operate.

Gifts and Favors:

The exchange of gifts and hospitalities is not encouraged, but is permitted in corporate contexts as long as it is not used to influence decisions or gain advantages. Accepting money or its equivalent is strictly prohibited. The acceptance of any gift must be immediately reported to a supervisor.

Interactions with Customers:

Meals or coffee breaks with clients must occur transparently and appropriately. The consumption of alcohol or illegal drugs is not permitted during these corporate meetings, in order to maintain a professional stance and mitigate risks.

4. Relations with the Public Sector

Interaction with public officials must be conducted with absolute integrity and in compliance with applicable anti-corruption laws, especially Law No. 12,846/2013 (Brazilian Anti-Corruption Law). Any form of facilitation, bribery, or ethical deviation is strictly prohibited.

5. Relations with Competitors

We act fairly and transparently in the market. We strongly reject anti-competitive practices such as cartels, dumping, industrial espionage, or commercial defamation. We respect free competition as an essential market value.

6. Relations with the Community

Axia Group actively contributes to the social development of the communities where it operates. We encourage volunteering, social projects, and practices that promote inclusion, diversity, and collective well-being, because we believe that Education is the only way to build a fair society.

7. Relations with the Media

Communication with the press must be conducted exclusively by authorized spokespersons. We do not permit the use of corporate electronic systems to transmit or store content that interferes with work activities.

Personal or professional social media accounts must not be used to expose private and confidential information of Axia Group or its clients. Participation in events representing the institution must be validated in advance. We avoid controversial discussions or personal debates in formal work groups.

8. Sustainability (ESG)

We commit to sustainability in all our operations, based on the triple bottom line (ESG):

- Environmental: Operations in legal compliance with environmental legislation.
- Social: Relationships based on trust, mutual respect, and community social commitment.
- Economic: Focus on high performance and the consistent delivery of value and excellence to clients.

9. Data Protection (LGPD)

We strictly comply with the General Data Protection Regulation (LGPD - Law No. 13,709/2018), as well as applicable anti-terrorism (Law No. 13,260/2016) and anti-corruption laws. Data obtained within the company cannot be shared with third parties under any circumstances.

It is everyone's duty to adopt security precautions: avoid using unauthorized flash drives or external storage devices, use cloud solutions approved by the company, maintain password confidentiality, and lock the computer when away. The monitoring of corporate virtual environments is expressly accepted by employees.

10. Respect in the Work Environment

We reject any form of discrimination based on origin, nationality, religion, race, sex, age, or sexual orientation. We guarantee an environment free from moral harassment, sexual harassment, or pressure of any kind.

We practice dialogue, not imposition; we listen to and respect the opinions of others. Intimate relationships are not permitted on company premises during working hours. We preserve our personal image by caring for our language on social networks and corporate groups.

11. Transparency

We act with clarity and honesty. Transparency is a non-negotiable value. We recognize that mistakes happen; in these cases, we are transparent and bring the issue immediately to leadership to mitigate damage and promote learning.

12. Compliance and Penalties

Compliance with this Code is mandatory for all. Violations can lead to disciplinary actions, including written warnings, suspension, or dismissal for cause, in addition to appropriate legal actions.

13. Ethics and Whistleblowing Channel

The company offers confidential channels to report deviations or behaviors inconsistent with our standards, guaranteeing non-retaliation and absolute confidentiality of the information provided.

Reports can be formalized through the official Ethics Channel, corporate compliance email, or via the electronic reporting form on the Axia Group website.
